Volume 2
4/3/19

Welcome to volume 2 of the Kittysburg Newsletter! I know you might have been expecting me to release this volume last week, but I've decided to release new volumes every other Wednesday now.

So what's new in Kittysburg? Well, I've gotten the new character pictures on the website now. At least, they're there on the characters page. I still need to update the pictures on the rest of the site.

I do plan on changing the layout of the characters page, though. Specifically, I plan on making it a menu, with each character having a separate page of their own.

As for the upcoming games, here's a screenshot of the upcoming platform game starring Bombay. It's going to be called "Bombay's Adventure.” But what about the other game I mentioned in volume 1? Well, I’ve actually decided to make it board game-style, but still keep the puzzle aspect of it. I might include a screenshot of that one in volume 3.

That’s all for now. See you in volume 3!
