Volume 3
4/19/19

Welcome to volume 3 of the Kittysburg Newsletter! It may be a couple days late, but don't get used to that. I'm planning to get back on schedule for volume 4.

Anyway, what's going on right now in Kittysburg? Well, I'm still planning on giving each of the characters their own separate page on the site. And as for the games, I'm planning on making a new version of the rock-paper-scissors game that's already on the site. The new version is going to be non-Flash, but what other changes am I going to make to it? You'll just have to see!

Since this volume is a couple days late, I'm gonna keep it short this time. So stay tuned for volume 4!
